Making port in Newport, Rhode Island on the weekend of September 21st-22nd were three Viking longboats. They are replicas of ancient craft that, lined with shields along both sides, were the terror of Europe from the 9th through the 11th centuries. In these boats the Vikings plundered the countries to their south for over 300 years. Paris was captured 3 times and was under seige for 13 months on a fourth attempt. In the treaty following, the Northmen were given a rich section of France which we know as Normandy.

These hardy, energetic fierce fighters braved the uncharted North Atlantic in these frail, high prowed longboats four centuries before Columbus. At a time when the earth was considered flat with an edge where you fall off, these Northmen sailed by the stars across the north Atlantic. They settled Iceland as early as 870. Eric the Red, forced to flee Iceland because of a murder, took a group with him to Greenland about the year 985. His son, Leif Ericson, according to the old sagas, discovered a part of North America about the year 1000. It was by accident when a storm drove his ship off course to the south. When he landed, he found maple trees, wild wheat and grapes. It is thought that he landed in Nova Scotia. Two years later, the Northmen tried to colonize this land with an expedition consisting of 3 vessels with 160 men and women. Quarrels among themselves and the fierce hostility of the natives caused them to abandon the colony.

The current group from Norway now touring in these three modern replicas sailed across the Atlantic in the longboats that we photographed in Newport where hundreds of people came to Fort Adams to see them. These boats are beautifully made lapstrake craft but they are best described as very large canoes. They carry a single mast with a square boom and are steered by one sailor in the stern by a large paddle attached to the right hand side. The crew is quartered in a deckhouse. The whole expedition is designed to bring attention to the earlier discovery of America far before the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria of Columbus. The courage of these latest Northmen is unquestionable but so is their luck. It is so fortunate that "Bob" was not encountered in even its mildest fury of wind and wave.

The trio has made several stops on this latest voyage including Iceland, Greenland, Nova Scotia, Boston, New York and Washington, D.C They will return to Norway via the North Atlantic, underscoring their point that Leif Ericson discovered America.

Vote Not to Defer Salaries

MATTAPOISETT SELECTMEN'S MEETING
SEPTEMBER 24, 1991-by VIRGINIA MORGAN

In response to pending state legislation that would permit the regional school committees to reject the option of teachers' summer salary deferral and permit local boards of selectmen to approve the school committee's rejection, selectmen last Tuesday unanimously approved rejecting the deferral to cover both Old Rochester Regional High School and Old Colony Regional Vocational-Technical High School.

A letter from ORR School Superintendent Joan M. Walsh noted the ORR School Committee voted on September 10th to reject the option. She noted, "The committee studied the implications of the Act, including its impact on succeeding budgets, the accounting issues raised, the bond liability issue raised, and decided that in addition to the existing $237,000 cut, that an additional reduction in the assessment of $199,000 would constitute an unreasonable additional negative impact on the School District."

Selectman Daniel O. Mahoney said, "I'm not particularly in favor of accepting the option, but it could be a viable use now. If the town has no deficit, it could use the added monies from deferring salaries for a capital item, and you could come out ahead. However, if it is not used for a capital item and it was spent on the deficit, the monies would have to be made up the following fiscal year, plus paying the salaries. That would make a double whammy if not handled wisely."

Finance Committee Chairman Robert Banz recommended rejecting the option saying, "As the law is described in two years we would have to come back again. It's sort of like a credit card. We are not sure that next year will be any better economically." He stressed "We are in a deficit position now; local receipts are down significantly. People are not buying new cars, sales are down; therefore, excise taxes are down. There is one bright side", said Mr. Banz, "and that is we think we could have some free cash from last year."

Town Accountant Joseph Bolton also favored rejecting the option, saying "We don't need to take out a mortgage to put in the savings account."

Both ORR School Committee and Old Colony School Committee will be asked to furnish the board with their official votes on the salary deferral issue. ORR School Committee member Dr. M.C. Rosenfield, representing Mattapoisett, listened to the discussion and thanked the board for its decision. It was noted the option to defer teachers' summer salaries came under Chapter 223 of the Act of 1991 statute.

In other business, selectmen:

VOTED TO SUPPORT Building Inspector Andrew J. Bobola in the decision to not waiver the $60. permit fee paid by Mattapoisett Friends Meeting for building a handicapped ramp. According to the town by-law, the ramp is covered as a deck construction; therefore the fee was paid by the contractor.

At the September 17th selectmen's meeting a letter from Friends Trustee Bradford A. Hathaway asked to the board to authorize the $60. fee be refunded. The board agreed to take the matter under consideration until they consulted with the building inspector.

Inspector Bobola informed selectmen the building permit of $400. was cut in half to $200. for construction of a new meeting hall. He additionally felt the fee waiver would set a precedent for other non-profit organizations who have paid the fee.

Selectmen have sent a letter to Mr. Hathaway saying, "In light of the tight financial situation of the town, we are of the view that it would be inappropriate to waive an existing building fee. All fees are used

In Mr. Hathaway's previous letter, he said "We are not looking for any kind of special treatment but merely request the board take whatever action is necessary to rewrite regulations so handicap access ramps on new buildings with public access no longer are classified as decks, with an added fee imposed."

RECEIVED A COPY OF A LETTER sent to Police Chief James F. Moran from ORR Junior High School Principal Robert Gardner in which he commended Police Safety Officer Paul Magee for his speech regarding the temptation of drugs and alcohol in schools.

Officer Magee, who spoke to a large crowd of seventh and eighth grade parents on September 12 at the school's open house, was a last minute replacement for Police Sgt. Edwin Pina. He showed absolutely no evidence of nervousness at any time during his presentation, wrote Mr. Gardner.

The principal continued, "Magee was thorough, touching on all of the reasons that parents should be concerned about their sons and daughters during these difficult economic times. He discreetly but deftly dealt with the temptations of drugs and alcohol and the profound influence that each parent exerts as a role model. He made available your department's drug display materials and answered parent questions following the opening

"On September 13 I received several phone calls from grateful parents who particularly praised Paul's poise, straightforward discussion and the nice impression he made. (Of course I did point out that he was an Old Rochester Regional Junior and Senior High School graduate.)

"In all of his dealings with students, as our Safety Officer, and with adults, as a supportive member of the Drug and Alcohol Task Force, Paul has impressed everyone with the strengths of his personal and professional manner. He is a credit to your Police Department and serves us all as an ideal role-model and gentleman."

WILL SEEK VOLUNTEERS for a five-person ad hoc Cablevision Advisory Committee to assist the selectmen in collecting information and to record action in connection with Continental Cablevision's license renewal. The license is due to expire June 19, 1994.

Selectmen pointed out that even though the renewal deadline date is three years away, there is a long process of informational gathering and public input and public meetings the company must conduct for the license.

A letter from Carol A. Ditata, General Manager, received two weeks ago, noted the cable operator voluntarily initiates the renewal process by submitting a proposal for the town's consideration and action. The selectmen, at that meeting, accepted the proposal and Continental Cablevision of Marion will file for a license renewal which will be followed by a public hearing.

Any person interested in serving on the ad hoc committee should contact the selectmen's office.

WERE NOTIFIED by Rodman Taylor, president of Taylor Seafood, Inc.,that he, along with Shellfish Constable Brian Nunes, has distributed well in excess of 200,000 scallop seed into the town waters. "We selected seed that was approximately 20 mm in size and disbursed them to various growing habitats in Mattapoisett. Taylor Seafood appreciates the continuing support we received from the town officials."

APPOINTED Wendy Reed as public matron for traffic duty at Old Hammondtown School and Old Rochester Regional High School. Ms. Reed will replace Beatrice Ingram who retired. Her term will expire April 30, 1992.

AGREED TO DEFER A DECISION on moving the stones on Barstow Wharf until board members can discuss a layout plan for the area. The huge stones were moved in the hurricane and Selectman Mahoney requested they not be used again to block passage to the wharf.

One of the stones has the name of Beatrice Ingram's husband on it as designating the spot where his car went off the wharf, resulting in his death. Selectmen said they will assure Mrs. Ingram the stone will be left intact.

On a similar matter, Mr. Mahoney mentioned his concern with the brightness of the lights at the town wharves (Long, Middle and Short), and asked, "Are they necessary at all or do they need to be so bright? We may need an electrical plan of the wharves, which should be done at the same time structural work is being done on Middle Wharf and repair work on Long Wharf."

the lights are necessary to deter stealing from the boats. Selectman Paul E. Lambalot suggested speaking to the police chief to get his opinion on the number and brightness of the lights needed.

WILL CONFER with Fairhaven and Rochester in cleaning the limbs and trash accumulating in the Mattapoisett River following the hurricane. Chairman DeCosta noted "we can check into the 75 percent funding for the tree removal."

Successful Cleansweep

On Saturday, September 21st, over forty community members participated in the annual Coastsweep. Judging from the 4000 pounds of trash, debris and other items collected, the program was a resounding success. The participants in the clean-up represented a cross section of the Mattapoisett community. With the support of students, seniors, businesses, individuals, families, and town officials the clean-up progressed quickly and smoothly.

Special thanks go out to Selectman Paul Lambalot who toiled alongside the other volunteers and Harbormaster Steven Mach who assisted us in removing a large float and a number of wharf pilings from the property.

Our participation in the fourth Coastsweep project was part of a nationwide month of volunteer coastal cleanup efforts. An estimated 3,200 people collected 15 tons of trash from waterfront areas in Massachusetts.

Still there is much to be done. Recent walks along the shores of Strawberry Point show the need for cleaning. The Land Trust is presently looking into a mid-October date for another clean-up. If you are interested in helping organize this clean-up please call Charles Duponte at 758-6508. We are looking for representatives of the different groups in our town.

The damage left behind in the wake of Hurricane Bob is quite evident by walking through our community. Your help in protecting our fragile environment is dearly needed. We welcome your help.

To those who worked on Saturday, thank you. You did a great job!

Charles Duponte.

Our mainline Protestant traditions place an emphasis on the Word, making the Bible and its interpretation central to our services. This Sunday, however, being World Communion Sunday, we focus on the Sacrament, this service which is central to our belief in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. The communion service is not just a tradition of our church; it shows to us our relationship to God, the church, and to one another.

"Why Communion?" will be the title of the sermon at our worship service at the Mattpoisett Congregational Church this Sunday which begins at 10:00 a.m. All are welcome to attend.

150th Church Anniversary

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-MARION

PLAY BY R.H. DAVIS PRESENTED

The Congregational Chapel in Marion was the setting for the revival of a Richard Harding Davis play, "Miss Civilization", on Saturday, September 21st. The play was originally put on in 1905 to help The First Congregational Church raise enough funds to buy back the church pews from individuals, so that the church as a whole would own the building and take an interest in its upkeep.

This year marks the 150th anniversary of the church's meetinghouse, designed in 1841 by Solomon K. Eaton of Mattapoisett. To help recall the play's part in the church's past, Wendy Bidstrup of the Marion Art Center offered to put "Miss Civilization" back on stage. Standing before a sell-out crowd attending the Heritage Dinner/Theater (catered by the Marion United Methodist Church), Jessica Shepardson of the Marion Art Center played the main character in the one-act comedy. Brian Scott, Peter Brown, and David Pierce were cast as the melodrama's three robbers, and Katherine Wickenden played the heroine's mother. The Rev. Ernest Cockrell made a special guest appearance as the police chief. Stage manager was Mariam Singer of Mattapoisett. According to a newspaper account of the 1905 production, a singer, "blind tenor", and reader entertained the audience before the play began. In 1991 Scott Correia sang and Anne Schenck accompanied on the violin.

"Miss Civilization" was brought to Broadway, as were several other Richard Harding Davis plays, and directed and performed by Ethel Barrymore and her brother, John. In 1905 "Miss Civilization" was directed in Marion by the playwright himself; in 1991 Wendy Bidstrup was the production director.

The final event in the Marion church's sesquicentennial year will be a rededication of the church building on Sunday, December 1st, with participants including the former minister, the Rev. George Robinson, and Southeast Area minister, the Rev. Paul Sinn, participating.

of Mattapoisett attended the first class, full of enthusiasm and questions. Succeeding classes will be held every Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at Village court.

Mrs. Howard explained there are many different reasons why a person will take a course in sign language. Mrs. Howard said she was involved with sign language even before her daughter, Emily, was born deaf. She proudly explained, "My daughter could ask for milk by the age of four months in sign language."

One mother said, "I have two deaf children and I want to be able to at least say hello to my daughter for better communication." Another woman works in an insurance office and feels these classes will add to her communication skills, adding "you never know when a deaf person might come to the office". A third person has a niece with a hearing loss and wants better communication, and a fourth works at Coastline Elderly Services in New Bedford and wants to be able to communicate with sign language if the need arises.

An introduction course for 7th and 8th grade students at Old Rochester Regional Junior High School is being offered by Mrs. William Keough, Industrial Arts teacher. This is an elective course and will be held during study hall, Mrs. Howard said.

During the initial class session, Mrs. Howard said there are many myths concerning the use of sign language; namely, that it is ungrammatical and that glorified gestures are necessary. She noted, however, that facial movement is important and you should look at a person's face when communicating in sign language.

In response to a question on close-captioned sign language, Mrs. Howard explained sporting events and late breaking news is closecaptioned live. And sometimes this comes through the wrong way. As an example she cited a case when an interpreter used the sign language for red (color) when it should have been the word read. She noted that is why there is a short delay when a foreign language is being interpreted to be sure of the meaning of a word. This could be a serious situation where foreign diplomacy is concerned, she noted. There should be some processing before interpreting.

The instructor said learning is a continuing process. "I still go to classes and workshops", she said.

Following the showing of a tape of a mime and how a story can be told without sound, the instructor said, "I guess you didn't expect homework on the first night, but I am asking you to practice going awhile without talking and to practice facial expressions before a mirror." In several weeks each person will be asked to give a two-minute mime demonstration, the instructor added.

Gladys Ellis Honored

MATTAPOISETT BASKET TEACHER

Gladys Sherman Ellis was honored on Wednesday, September 18th, by approximately thirty women who gathered to pay tribute to their teacher, guide and mentor in the intricate time-consuming construction of Mattapoisett Baskets.

Gladys Ellis and the basket she made with scrimshaw scenes of Mattapoisett.
Waring Photography

Mrs. Ellis' classes began in 1970, literally by demand. An exquisite engraver on ivory (the art form known as scrimshaw), she was searching for a means to display her work and began experimenting with the pine-needle and raffia construction long practiced in the south where long-needle pine trees produce needles 12 to 20 inches in length.

Gladys took that art form, introduced to her by her aunt, and refined it from the usual trays and open shallow baskets to a lidded basket with ivory fittings so that it could be used as a purse. Similar in size and shape to the well-known Nantucket Basket it is sturdily delicate in design with intricate weavings of pine needles and raffia split to sewing-thread size. When Gladys appeared with that first bag three ladies clamored for one like it. And so the first class was formed. There have been classes in every year since with a long waiting list of women eager to create their own unique baskets.

Former and present students from Mattapoisett, Rochester, Wareham, Fairhaven, Acushnet, Swansea, Somerset, Falmouth, Wellesley, Scituate, Tiverton, Barrington and Manchester, Connecticut brought their baskets to the luncheon gathering which was held at Bay View, a residential retirement community overlooking Mt. Hope Bay in Fall River.

The baskets were on display where everyone could see, and marvel at, the imaginative creativity which has been incorporated into these unique works of art over the past two decades.

The process is principally one of sewing as narrow bundles of pine needles are sewn with decorative raffia stitching around and around to form the desired shape. One woman had said with dismay, "I don't know how to sew", but under Gladys' excellent tutelage she designed and completed her bag with no difficulty.

The baskets range in shape from oval to round, and in sizes from small to large. Each one has different open-work designs in raffia - triangles, circles, ovals, squares

No two bags are alike and the scrimshaw is particularly significant, some with traditional whaling and ship designs, others with nostalgic representations of places close to the maker's heart. Ned's Point Light appeared on several bags. One portrayed the gazebo at Shipyard Park, another scenes of early Mattapoisett and yet another, the young son and daughter of the maker. Incidentally, most of the students did their own scrimshaw and under Gladys' direction. To familiarize themselves with this difficult art form they practiced on old piano keys.

One of Gladys' own creations, the possession of her proud daughter Carole, has seven scrimshaw inserts, a large oval on the top which portrays the family home, and six round medallions spaced around the middle of the bag, with engravings of the Mattapoisett Town Hall, Center School, Ned's Point Light, Congregational Church, Library and Town Wharf all as they looked in the early 1950s - truly a "Mattapoisett" Basket. We who live in Mattapoisett have reason to feel great pride, as the fame of Mattapoisett Baskets is carried far and wide when Gladys' basket-makers travel hither and yon, their exquisite purses eye-catchers wherever they go.

However, their numbers will never equal their more famous older sister, the Nantucket Basket because they cannot be mass-produced. In illustration of the value placed on these museum-quality works of art, some makers, including Gladys, have been persuaded to sell their bags to avid collectors and prices have ranged as high as $6500.

Each one is the very personal creation of its maker who is inspired by Gladys, directed by her in the intricate construction, and buoyed by her everlasting patience, dedication and encouragement during the months from beginning to completion.

Two of the three original students, Arlene Dexter and Marjorie Alden Doran, were present on September 18th, as were representatives from nearly every class since 1970, including 1991, whose bags are still in progress.

In grateful appreciation for enriching their lives, not only in the creation of something beautifully unique but also for the friendships formed during the weeks of learning and working together, the basket makers presented to Gladys a large painting of her home which Mattapoisett artist David Baggarly was commissioned to render in watercolor. It seemed a particularly appropriate gift because it was there in Glady's third-floor studio classroom that their Mattapoisett Baskets grew from nebulous dreams to stunning reality.

areas in the recycling field were covered.

Such topics as "the starting and running of successful recycling programs" were discussed. A concentration of ideas from area communities - such as "what people are doing for recycling in southeastern Massachusetts" and "what they can learn from each other" were brought forth.

Each speaker in his or her field presented different aspects of recycling. One environmental attorney spoke on "Watching Our Wasteline" (i.e. - by the end of '91 landfills can not accept any white goods (stoves, refrigerators, sinks, etc.).

The variety of speakers gave those attending a wide range of information to take back to their hometown communities.

NEWSPAPER RECYCLING

Saturday's newspaper recycling once again was a huge success! Actual tonnage is not in yet. C.L.E.A.N., Inc. of Rochester sponsors this project, which is for NEWSPAPERS ONLY. Two of us volunteers worked for most of that beautiful morning, sorting other "stuff" out of newspaper piles - such as Prestos (they're great, but can not be recycled with newspapers because they're of a different paper). Also, there were magazines - same reason. Also, clean, folded Kleenex boxes, kids' homework papers, flyers which come in the mail. The list goes on. We know we all want to recycle, but NEWSPAPERS ONLY for these drive. PLEASE!

A trailer full of these "contaminants" had to be hauled off to the landfill by the volunteers. It makes more work for us.

PLEASE, just NEWSPAPERS

The next collection will be in November. If you wish to recycle newspapers before that time, Fairhaven gladly accepts them. Fairhaven's Recycling Center is on Bridge Street between The Pasta House and Route 6.

It is important that from now on papers should be tied in bundles, not bagged. This is for the following reasons: 1) bagged- we can't tell if "just newspapers" are in there, and we have to take them out to look. 2) when the newspapers are finally packed into the New Jersey van, it's far easier to cut the string than to empty them out of bags. 3) all of those bags have to be hauled away to a landfill here (they don't go to New Jersey) - adding more unnecessary stuff to our landfills, not to mention the unnecessary work and time involved for the volunteers.

Messages of Thanks

We have survived Hurricane Bob and things here at the Mattapoisett Nursing Home have returned to normal. We would like to take this time to thank the town departments for their help with the generator; the staff who worked under difficult circumstances, the residents for their understanding and cooperation, and the townspeople who were concerned for our welfare. "Bob" was tough but with all the good townspeople on our side, we did survive. Thanks again.

PEARL HARBOR SURVIVORS
PLANNING 50th ANNIVERSARY

Men and women of all branches of the service who survived the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941 will be returning to Hawaii in December 1991 to honor their friends who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Many special events are being planned for the 50th Anniversary Memorial program according to Charles A. Toohey, president of the Bay Patriots Chapter, Pearl Harbor Survivors Association.

President George Bush has accepted a personal invitation to be the guest speaker. The U.S. Post Office will be issuing a Pearl Harbor Day commemorative stamp. Congress is planning to issue a commemorative medal to all Pearl Harbor survivors or their next of kin. All branches of the military, as well as the City of Honolulu and the State of Hawaii, are also planning programs for this occasion.

American Indian Dance Theatre

OPEN ZEITERION's 10th ANNIVERSARY

The American Indian Dance Theatre, the first national company of Native American dancers and musicians, will open the Zeiterion Theatre's Tenth Anniversary season with a colorful and explosive show, on Saturday, October 12th, at 8:00 p.m. The company recently opened its 1991-1992 season in New York City to rave reviews.

The American Indian Dance Theatre features more than 20 dancers and musicians, representing tribes from across the United States and Canada. The company was created in 1987 by Barbara Schwei who explained, "I felt there was a need for a permanent national company to present a part of the rich culture of American Indian to other Americans and the world. Wherever we have performed - from major urban centers in this country to small communities abroad -- the press and public response has been most enthusiastic. Whatever their background or nationality, people are appreciative of our work and want to learn and know more."

The company is directed by Hanay Geiogamah, a member of the Kiowa/Delaware Tribes. "During the performance audiences experience many styles of American Indian dancing", commented Mr. Geiogamah. "All our dances are traditional and authentic, but have been restaged as theatrical pieces. However, in seventh annual Conference on the Teaching of Writing Friday, October 18th.

This event brings high school and college writing teachers from southeastern Massachusetts and nearby Rhode Island to be energized, renewed and invigorated with new techniques to improve the teaching of writing in their classrooms, according to Donnie McGee, conference chair at BCC. "The program emphasizes strategies for success in the classroom", she said. It includes workshops conducted by faculty from local high schools and colleges, and provides opportunities for writing educators to meet together and compare notes and successful methods of teaching, she added.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Samuel F. Pickering, Jr., noted essayist and model for the character played by Robin Williams in The Dead Poets Society. Dr. Pickering, professor of English at the University of Connecticut, is a dynamic and exciting speaker, said Ms. McGee. "And at lunch the college's theater company, BCC Theatre Rep, will perform several scenes from The Dead Poets Society", said Ms. McGee.

The conference fee of $15.00 includes all presentations and lunch. "We hope educators in the area and people just interested in the process of teaching writing will join us for this exciting day", she added.

Register until Oct. 9; 678-2811, Ext.282 or 445.

This is to all the folks in the tri-town area who have helped us make our little Bike Shop on North Street, Mattapoisett into a very successful business. The past two years have been a very pleasant experience, meeting and serving our old and new friends in the bicycling community of the tri-town area. To all a Hearfelt Thanks!

As we start our third year as the tri-town area's Bike Shop we would like to show our appreciation to the community by starting up and sponsoring a BMX Racing Team, made up of local tri-town area youth. Our team will race each week at the Otis military reservation in Bourne. They have a really great BMX track and we hope to get more support from area businesses to make this a great success. Now, more than ever, our youth need to know that the business community cares about them.

Again, thanks for the past two years and we look forward to serving the area in the future.

New Orchestra of Boston

The Bristol Community College Foundation's tenth Annual Gala will present The New Orchestra of Boston on Saturday, October 19th, at 8 p.m. in the Arts Center Theater on campus. The Gala, the Foundation's annual fund-raising event, this year will serve as the capstone of the college's 25th anniversary celebration.

The internationally-acclaimed New Orchestra has performed in Lisbon, the Azores, Salzburg, and Lincoln Center. Director David Epstein has been cited by the press as "one of the leading interpreters of romantic music in his generation". A full 25-string orchestra will present a program featuring pieces by Arthur Berger, Tchaikowsky and Ernest Bloch, with Janice Webber the solo pianist.

Each year the Foundation sponsors the Fall Gala as a fund-raising event for the college. "This year is special, as it is the Tenth Annual Gala, the College's 25th anniversary and a first night celebration for Fall River", said John R. Schueler, publishers of the Herald News and chair of this year's Gala. "This event is critically important to the students and faculty at BCC who benefit through student scholarships and faculty grants", he added.

Tickets are only $15. per person and can be purchased at Jim Rogers Cigar Store, 46 North Main Street in Fall River, or the Merri-Card and Gift Shop at South Main Plaza, Fall River, or by calling BCC at 678-2811, ext. 169.

CORTEZ AND CONQUEST OF MEXICO LECTURE AT HERITAGE PLANTATION

"Cortez and The Conquest of Mexico", an illustrated lecture, will be presented by Gene A. Schott, Director, Heritage Plantation on Wednesday, October 16th, at 7:00 p.m. in the theatre of the Shaker Round Barn.

The Spanish conquest of the Aztecs in 1521 destroyed the last great Native American culture of Mesoamerica and changed forever the face of Mexico. The lecture will detail the amazing story of how Hernan Cortez and a small band of adventurers utilized valor, intrigue, ruthlessness and uncommon luck to overcome one of the most powerful empires of their world.

Please register by calling 888-3300. The lecture is free to members, $3.00 for non-members.

Fairhaven Historical Commission

PROPOSED ACADEMY MUSEUM
F. ROWLAND GUEST SPEAKER

Mr. Francis Rowland, Town Historian of Mattapoisett, will address the members of the Fairhaven Historical Commission regarding the formation of a proposed Academy Museum. Interested citizens are cordially invited to attend the meeting to be held at the Academy Building at 7:00 p.m. on October 2.

The Fairhaven Historical Society is in the process of raising funds to restore the final exterior wall, bell tower and cupola of the Academy Building. Contributions should be made payable to The Academy Restoration Fund, P.O. Box 212, Fairhaven, MA 02719. The Society and the Commission hope to honor the late Louis A. Veilleux with a memorable plaque upon the completion of the exterior of the Academy Building.

A new flagpole and flag have been placed at Fort Phoenix by an anonymous donor. Mrs. May Newsham will dedicate the second flag in loving memory of her husband, Clarence Newsham, who served in World War II as a Captain in the Army Air Force. Individuals wishing to dedicate flags should contact Robert Hamilton, Chair, Historical Commission, Town Hall, Fairhaven.
